DEFINITIONS

Aggregate Data is data that has been gathered, processed, and expressed in a summary or report form for reporting purposes such as making comparisons, predicting trends or other statistical analyses. Aggregate data is collected from multiple sources and/or measures, variables, or individual human subjects. Since aggregate data is the consolidation of data from multiple sources, it is typically not able to be traced back to a specific human subject.

Anonymous Data is unidentified (i.e., personally identifiable information was not collected, or if collected, identifiers were not retained and cannot be retrieved) data that cannot be linked directly or indirectly by anyone to their source(s).

Authorized user means a recipient's employees, agents, assigns, representatives, independent contractors, or other persons or entities authorized by the data recipient to access, use, or disclose information through this agreement.

Authorized user agreement means the confidentiality agreement a recipient requires each of its Authorized Users to sign prior to gaining access to Public Health Information.

Breach of confidentiality means unauthorized access, use or disclosure of information received under this agreement. Disclosure may be oral or written, in any form or medium.

Breach of security means an action (either intentional or unintentional) that bypasses security controls or violates security policies, practices, or procedures.

Coded Data is when direct personal identifiers have been removed from the data and replaced with words, letters, figures, symbols, or a combination of these (not derived from or related to the personal information) for purposes of protecting the identity of the source(s). The original identifiers are retained in such a way that they can be traced back to the source(s) by someone with the code. A code is sometimes also referred to as a "key," "link," or "map."

Confidential information means information that is protected from public disclosure by law. There are many state and federal laws that make different kinds of information confidential. In Washington State, the two most common are the Public Records Act RCW 42.56, and the Healthcare Information Act, RCW 70.02.

Data storage means electronic media with information recorded on it, such as CDs/DVDs, computers, and similar devices.

Data transmission means the process of transferring information across a network from a sender (or source) to one or more destinations.

De-Identified Data is when all direct personal identifiers are permanently removed from the data, no code or key exists to link the data to their original source(s), and the remaining information cannot reasonably be used by anyone to identify the source(s).

Direct identifier Direct identifiers in research data or records include names; postal address information (other than town or city, state and zip code); telephone numbers, fax numbers, e-mail addresses; social security numbers; medical record numbers; health plan beneficiary numbers; account numbers; certificate /license numbers; vehicle identifiers and serial numbers, including license plate numbers; device identifiers and serial numbers; web universal resource locators (URLs); internet protocol (IP) address numbers; biometric identifiers, including finger and voice prints; and full face photographic images and any comparable images.

Disclosure means to permit access to or release, transfer, or other communication of confidential information by any means including oral, written, or electronic means, to any party except the party identified or the party that provided or created the record.

Encryption means the use of algorithms to encode data making it impossible to read without a specific piece of information, which is commonly referred to as a “key”. Depending on the type of information shared, encryption may be required during data transmissions, and/or data storage.

Health care information means any information, whether oral or recorded in any form or medium, that identifies or can readily be associated with the identity of a patient and directly relates to the patient's health care....” RCW 70.02.010(7)

Health information is any information that pertains to health behaviors, human exposure to environmental contaminants, health status, and health care. Health information includes health care information as defined by RCW 70.02.010 and health related data as defined in RCW 43.70.050.

Health Information Exchange (HIE) means the statewide hub that provides technical services to support the secure exchange of health information between HIE participants.

Human research review is the process used by institutions that conduct human subject research to ensure that:

- the rights and welfare of human subjects are adequately protected;
- the risks to human subjects are minimized, are not unreasonable, and are outweighed by the potential benefits to them or by the knowledge gained; and
- the proposed study design and methods are adequate and appropriate in light of the stated research objectives.

Research that involves human subjects or their identifiable personal records should be reviewed and approved by an institutional review board (IRB) per requirements in federal and state laws and regulations and state agency policies.

Human subjects research/human subject means a living individual about whom an investigator (whether professional or student) conducting research obtains (1) data through intervention or interaction with the individual, or (2) identifiable private information.

Identifiable data or records contains information that reveals or can likely associate the identity of the person or persons to whom the data or records pertain. Research data or records with direct identifiers removed, but which retain indirect identifiers, are still considered identifiable.

Indirect identifiers are indirect identifiers in research data or records that include all geographic identifiers smaller than a state, including street address, city, county, precinct, Zip code, and their equivalent postal codes, except for the initial three digits of a ZIP code; all elements of dates (except year) for dates directly related to an individual, including birth date, admission date, discharge date, date of death; and all ages over 89 and all elements of dates (including year) indicative of such age, except that such age and elements may be aggregated into a single category of age 90 or older.

Limited dataset means a data file that includes potentially identifiable information. A limited dataset does not contain direct identifiers.

Normal business hours are state business hours Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. except state holidays.

Public Health Authority is an agency or authority of the United States government, a State, a territory, a political subdivision of a State or territory, or Indian tribe that is responsible for public health matters as part of its official mandate, as well as a person or entity acting under a grant of authority from, or under a contract with, a public health agency. See 45 CFR 164.501.

Public Health Surveillance Activities are limited to activities conducted, supported, requested, ordered, required, or authorized by a “public health authority” and:

- Are necessary to allow a public health authority to identify, monitor, assess, or investigate potential public health signals, onsets of disease outbreaks, or conditions of public health importance, including trends, signals, risk factors, patterns of diseases, or increases in injuries from consumer products.

- Provide timely situational awareness and priority setting during the course of an event or crisis that threatens public health.

Potentially identifiable information means information that includes indirect identifiers which may permit linking an individual to that person's health care information. Examples of potentially identifiable information include:

- birth dates;
- admission, treatment, or diagnosis dates;
- healthcare facility codes;
- other data elements that may identify an individual. These vary depending on factors such as the geographical location and the rarity of a person's health condition, age, or other characteristic.

Prescription monitoring program direct identifiers means direct identifiers in the Prescription Monitoring Program may include the following: patient's first name; middle name; last name; social security number; control or medical record number; zip code plus four digits; dates that include day, month, and year; or admission and discharge date in combination; and "Prescribing profession" as defined by RCW 70.22.040(5)(c)(i) and RCW 70.22.040(5)(c)(ii).

Prescription monitoring program indirect identifiers means indirect identifiers in the Prescription Monitoring Program may include the following: Hospital or provider identifiers, a five-digit zip code, county, state, and country of resident; dates that include month and year; age in years; and race and ethnicity as defined by RCW 70.22.040(5)(c)(i).

Research refers to a systematic investigation, including research development, testing, and evaluation, designed to develop or contribute to generalizable knowledge.

Restricted confidential information means confidential information where especially strict handling requirements are dictated by statutes, rules, regulations, or contractual agreements. Violations may result in enhanced legal sanctions.

State holidays State legal holidays, as provided in RCW 1.16.050.

EXHIBIT I

1. PURPOSE AND JUSTIFICATION FOR SHARING THE DATA

Provide a detailed description of the purpose and justification for sharing the data, including specifics on how the data will be used.

The effects of substance, opioid, and stimulant use pose a public health challenge that touches the lives of every Washingtonian. Communities across the state have demanded a coordinated response to the persistent and evolving epidemic of drug-related harms. This coordination includes access to timely, standardized, coordinated data products that support the establishment of response efforts to address the impacts of this epidemic on our communities. The restricted access Opioid and Drug Use Data Dashboard for local, Tribal and State public health partners fulfills this goal by consolidating historically isolated DOH data products into a single data dashboard to guide the state and local overdose response efforts.

This dashboard is designed collaboratively with local health partners to support their opioid and drug use data needs. Without this dashboard, most local and Tribal partners will lose the ability to monitor the impacts of substance, opioid, and stimulant use in their communities and their ability to respond to these impacts will be diminished.

The dashboard provides aggregated overdose and use data at the county, region, and state level with some granularity by broad demographic groups such as age groups, race and ethnicity and sex at birth. While this dashboard does not contain any personal health information, it does contain aggregated demographic data by county that could be used to triangulate the identity of individuals. This dashboard also contains aggregated Prescription Monitoring Program data to demonstrate the number of people receiving opioid prescriptions to inform surveillance. For that reason, access to this dashboard is restricted to staff from local and Tribal entities and state opioid and overdose response plan and opioid settlement partners, which are the Governor's Office, OFM, Attorney General's Office, DOH, HCA, DSHS, L&I, UW and DCYF. Local staff may consist of Medical Program Director's (MPD's) that are prescribed duties by the Department of Health under RCW 18.71.212 and WAC 246-976-920. The dashboard is protected by a security group managed by the agency IT team.

Only approved users can access the dashboard after they sign the DSA and agree to follow the DOH guidelines for reporting small numbers when presenting any information from the dashboard to their constituents to inform the local and Tribal opioid and overdose response efforts. Additionally, at the point of entry to the dashboard, approved users are required to acknowledge a confidentiality disclaimer and agreement and there is user review process (including semi-annual account reviews) for anyone requesting access to the dashboard. The local and Tribal authorities need to refer to the data on the dashboard to identify the areas of the state with high or low risk or areas with inadequate service coverage, and they may need to communicate this to their constituents as part of their response efforts. When they communicate any information from the dashboard with their constituents for any response effort they may be involved, they agree to follow the state small numbers guidelines. Additionally, when partners with access to the dashboard "download" data, it is de-identified, aggregate data that the dashboard displays, not line-level data. As stated in this agreement, they must destroy the data after the period of performance, only use the data as permitted in this agreement, and must use the DOH and dataset-specific small numbers policy (in Appendix D) when reporting data. Data may be shared publicly in adherence with DOH small numbers guidelines and RCW 70.168.090 and will not identify any health information at the patient, provider, or facility level.

Is the purpose of this agreement for human subjects research that requires Washington State Institutional Review Board (WSIRB) approval?

Yes No

If yes, has a WSIRB review and approval been received? If yes, please provide copy of approval. If No, attach exception letter.

Yes No

APPENDIX BDATA SECURITY REQUIREMENTS*Protection of Data

The storage of Category 3 and 4 information outside of the State Governmental Network requires organizations to ensure that encryption is selected and applied using industry standard algorithms validated by the NIST Cryptographic Algorithm Validation Program. Encryption must be applied in such a way that it renders data unusable to anyone but authorized personnel, and the confidential process, encryption key or other means to decipher the information is protected from unauthorized access. All manipulations or transmissions of data within the organization's network must be done securely.

The Information Recipient agrees to store information received under this Agreement (the data) within the United States on one or more of the following media, and to protect it as described below:

A. Passwords

1. Passwords must always be encrypted. When stored outside of the authentication mechanism, passwords must be in a secured environment that is separate from the data and protected in the same manner as the data. For example, passwords stored on mobile devices or portable storage devices must be protected as described under section F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media.
2. Complex Passwords are:
 - At least 8 characters in length.
 - Contain at least three of the following character classes: uppercase letters, lowercase letters, numerals, special characters.
 - Do not contain the user's name, user ID or any form of their full name.
 - Do not consist of a single complete dictionary word but can include a passphrase.
 - Do not consist of personal information (e.g., birthdates, pets' names, addresses, etc.).
 - Are unique and not reused across multiple systems and accounts.
 - Changed at least every 120 days.

B. Hard Disk Drives / Solid State Drives – Data stored on workstation drives:

1. The data must be encrypted as described under section F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media. Encryption is not required when Potentially Identifiable Information is stored temporarily on local workstation Hard Disk Drives/Solid State Drives. Temporary storage is thirty (30) days or less.
2. Access to the data is restricted to authorized users by requiring logon to the local workstation using a unique user ID and Complex Password, or other authentication mechanisms which provide equal or greater security, such as biometrics or smart cards. Accounts must lock after 5 unsuccessful access attempts and remain locked for at least 15 minutes, or require administrator reset.

C. Network server and storage area networks (SAN)

1. Access to the data is restricted to authorized users through the use of access control lists which will grant access only after the authorized user has authenticated to the network.
2. Authentication must occur using a unique user ID and Complex Password, or other authentication mechanisms which provide equal or greater security, such as biometrics or smart cards. Accounts must lock after 5 unsuccessful access attempts, and remain locked for at least 15 minutes, or require administrator reset.
3. The data is located in a secured computer area, which is accessible only by authorized personnel with access controlled through use of a key, card key, or comparable mechanism.
4. If the servers or storage area networks are not located in a secured computer area or if the data is classified as Confidential or Restricted it must be encrypted as described under F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media.

D. Optical discs (CDs or DVDs)

1. Optical discs containing the data must be encrypted as described under F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media.
2. When not in use for the purpose of this Agreement, such discs must be locked in a drawer, cabinet, or other physically secured container to which only authorized users have the key, combination or mechanism required to access the contents of the container.

E. Access over the Internet or the State Governmental Network (SGN).

1. When the data is transmitted between DOH and the Information Recipient, access is controlled by the DOH, who will issue authentication credentials.
2. Information Recipient will notify DOH immediately whenever:
 - a. An authorized person in possession of such credentials is terminated or otherwise leaves the employ of the Information Recipient;
 - b. Whenever a person's duties change such that the person no longer requires access to perform work for this Contract.
3. The data must not be transferred or accessed over the Internet by the Information Recipient in any other manner unless specifically authorized within the terms of the Agreement.
 - a. If authorized, the data must be encrypted during transmissions using a key length of at least 128 bits. Industry standard mechanisms and algorithms, such as those validated by the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) are required.

APPENDIX BDATA SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

- b. Authentication must occur using a unique user ID and Complex Password (of at least 10 characters). When the data is classified as Confidential or Restricted, authentication requires secure encryption protocols and multi-factor authentication mechanisms, such as hardware or software tokens, smart cards, digital certificates, or biometrics.
- c. Accounts must lock after 5 unsuccessful access attempts, and remain locked for at least 15 minutes, or require administrator reset.

F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media

1. Examples of mobile devices are: smart phones, tablets, laptops, notebook or netbook computers, and personal media players.
2. Examples of portable storage media are: flash memory devices (e.g. USB flash drives), and portable hard disks.
3. The data must not be stored by the Information Recipient on mobile devices or portable storage media unless specifically authorized within the terms of this Agreement. If so authorized:
 - a. The devices/media must be encrypted with a key length of at least 128 bits, using industry standard mechanisms validated by the National Institute of Standards and Technologies (NIST).
 - Encryption keys must be stored in a secured environment that is separate from the data and protected in the same manner as the data.
 - b. Access to the devices/media is controlled with a user ID and a Complex Password (of at least 6 characters), or a stronger authentication method such as biometrics.
 - c. The devices/media must be set to automatically wipe or be rendered unusable after no more than 10 failed access attempts.
 - d. The devices/media must be locked whenever they are left unattended and set to lock automatically after an inactivity activity period of 3 minutes or less.
 - e. The data must not be stored in the Cloud. This includes backups.
 - f. The devices/ media must be physically protected by:
 - Storing them in a secured and locked environment when not in use;
 - Using check-in/check-out procedures when they are shared; and
 - Taking frequent inventories.
4. When passwords and/or encryption keys are stored on mobile devices or portable storage media they must be encrypted and protected as described in this section.

G. Backup Media

The data may be backed up as part of Information Recipient's normal backup process provided that the process includes secure storage and transport, and the data is encrypted as described under F. Data storage on mobile devices or portable storage media.

APPENDIX B

DATA SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

H. Paper documents

Paper records that contain data classified as Confidential or Restricted must be protected by storing the records in a secure area which is only accessible to authorized personnel. When not in use, such records are stored in a locked container, such as a file cabinet, locking drawer, or safe, to which only authorized persons have access.

I. Data Segregation

1. The data must be segregated or otherwise distinguishable from all other data. This is to ensure that when no longer needed by the Information Recipient, all the data can be identified for return or destruction. It also aids in determining whether the data has or may have been compromised in the event of a security breach.
2. When it is not feasible or practical to segregate the data from other data, then all commingled data is protected as described in this Exhibit.

J. Data Disposition

If data destruction is required by the Agreement, the data must be destroyed using one or more of the following methods:

Data stored on:	Is destroyed by:
Hard Disk Drives / Solid State Drives	Using a “wipe” utility which will overwrite the data at least three (3) times using either random or single character data, or Degaussing sufficiently to ensure that the data cannot be reconstructed, or Physically destroying the disk, or Delete the data and physically and logically secure data storage systems that continue to be used for the storage of Confidential or Restricted information to prevent any future access to stored information. One or more of the preceding methods is performed before transfer or surplus of the systems or media containing the data.
Paper documents with Confidential or Restricted information	On-site shredding, pulping, or incineration, or Recycling through a contracted firm provided the Contract with the recycler is certified for the secure destruction of confidential information.

DATA SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

Optical discs (e.g. CDs or DVDs)	Incineration, shredding, or completely defacing the readable surface with a course abrasive.

APPENDIX DDOH SMALL NUMBERS GUIDELINES

- Aggregate data so that the need for suppression is minimal. Suppress all non-zero counts which are less than ten.
- Suppress rates or proportions derived from those suppressed counts.
- Assure that suppressed cells cannot be recalculated through subtraction, by using secondary suppression as necessary. Survey data from surveys in which 80% or more of the eligible population is surveyed should be treated as non-survey data.
- When a survey includes less than 80% of the eligible population, and the respondents are unequally weighted, so that cell sample sizes cannot be directly calculated from the weighted survey estimates, then there is no suppression requirement for the weighted survey estimates.
- When a survey includes less than 80% of the eligible population, but the respondents are equally weighted, then survey estimates based on fewer than 10 respondents should be “top-coded” (estimates of less than 5% or greater than 95% should be presented as 0-5% or 95-100%).

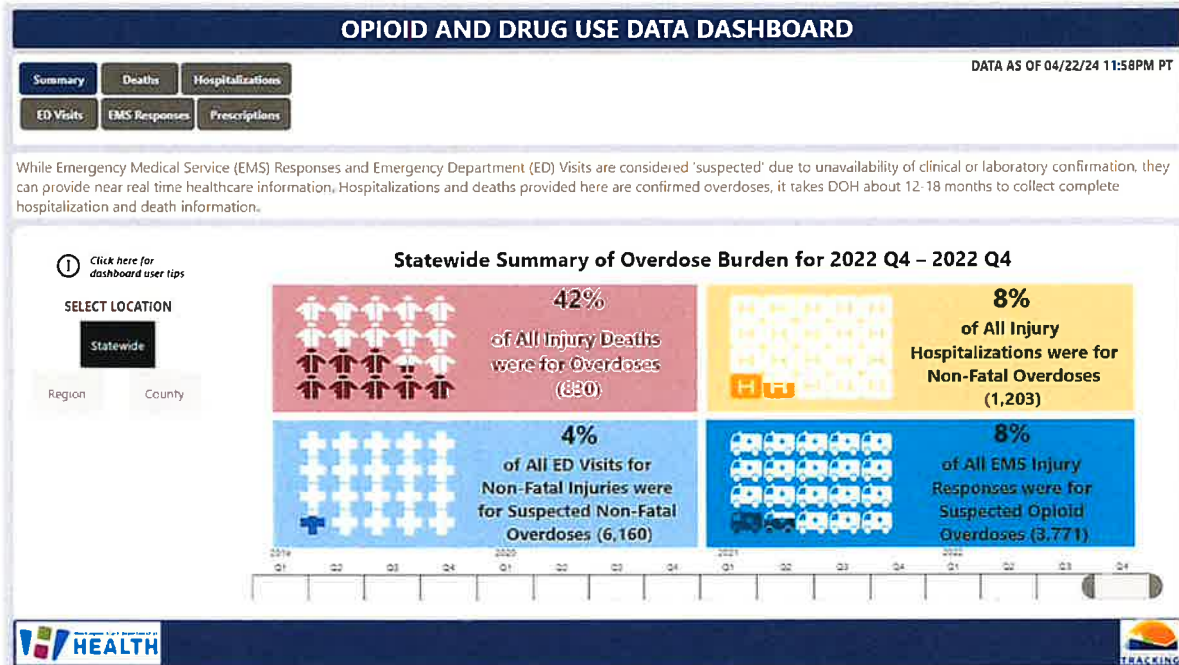

ADDITIONAL DATASET SPECIFIC SMALL NUMBERS REQUIREMENTS

- When presenting any information from the dashboard publicly, follow the DOH guidelines for reporting small numbers.
 - When possible, aggregate data so that no single number, “cell size,” is less than 10.
 - Suppress all non-zero counts less than 10, unless they are in a category labeled “unknown.”
 - Suppress rates or proportions derived from those suppressed counts.
