

Dr. Jolene Sullivan Port Gamble S'Klallam Tribe

Dr. Jolene Sullivan is a member of the Port Gamble S'Klallam Tribe. She currently serves as the Health Services Director, overseeing the Tribe's health clinic, dental clinic, behavioral health clinic, community health services, and business office. She received her Doctorate in Integrated Behavioral Health Management from Arizona State University and has over twenty years of experience in health and social services within the Tribe.

With over twenty years of hands-on experience in health and social services, Dr. Sullivan has dedicated her career to serving the Tribe, understanding their unique needs and challenges. Her deep-rooted commitment to enhancing the well-being of community members is reflected in her work, where she integrates culturally relevant approaches to promote health and support families. Throughout her career, Dr. Sullivan has been involved in various initiatives to improve access to health services, advocate for community resources, and empower individuals to lead healthier lives.